PIP Parent Infant Program

Parent Infant Program (PIP)

Helping you give your child the most valuable gift of all...a loving, nurturing parent.

PIP is a comprehensive, home-based treatment service partnering with families to strengthen their abilities and create lasting change.

PIP services are requested by parents of any age who are coping with mental health challenges and are pregnant or have a child under age four.

PIP services are family-centered and build upon individual and family strengths to increase personal and community supports, promote healthy family functioning, and strengthen the critical parent/child bond.

PIP provides comprehensive treatment partnering therapeutic and case management services for the family, offering flexible scheduling and a variety of treatment services including: family, individual, and play therapy, couples counseling, and parenting support.

PIP helps parents identify their current strengths and resources, enhancing their potential to parent successfully. Together, parent and worker explore many parenting topics including:

- Developmental stages of childhood
- Positive parenting techniques
- Effective discipline/healthy independence
- Coping with the demands of siblings
- Balancing personal needs with parenting challenges

Using a Wraparound approach, PIP works with the entire family to coordinate and monitor services and supports within community, educational, legal, and medical systems by:

- Using a strength-based, needs-driven approach
- Encouraging family choice throughout service involvement
- Helping families identify and build relationships with natural supports
- Providing advocacy, community-based referrals, and support
- Partnering with families to create and sustain community involvement
