Treatment

I believe that everyone has the right and ability to pursue life, liberty and happiness. Change and optimal personal growth are important to me. Recognizing self-awareness acts as an essential base for personal growth. I hope every individual served desires change and a healthy positive lifestyle. I focus on positive, strength-based approaches that consider the many forces and factors that make us holistic individuals. I believe that living life takes courage and often we need assistance to re-focus our life's direction and support through difficult times. Motivation and momentum are also potential benefits that counseling can create with individuals. I assist individuals with short-term, goal oriented, and positive treatment. I know quality treatment services work in a collaborative nature with the individual, the counselor, our Family & Children team, and the community resources for a healthy, safe approach.
